Why become a member of Sports Council?

Armidale Regional Sports Council is the peak body for sport in New England, supporting its members through promotion and advocacy for the sector so that clubs/associations and their members can reap the benefits that sport and recreation provides.

Sports Council is the central point of communication between council and sporting clubs/organisations, aiming to align the strategic plans of local sporting clubs and the community with the development of council owned/managed infrastructure. There are many benefits to being a member of Sports Council, as outlined below:

- Opportunity to be involved in Sports Council organised activities including the annual New England Sports Awards
 - Receive updates on industry news and events through regular communications, such as our e-newsletter
 - Be represented on key issues affecting sport and active recreation
 - Utilise the networks of Sports Council and attend networking events
 - Increase awareness of your events and programs
 - Access to grants for sporting representatives (Sports Council Small Grants)
 - Access to resources, information, templates and exclusive industry research
 - Access to grant information and letters of support when applying
 - Access to funding to help develop council owned/managed infrastructure (Sports Development Levy payers only)
